SCHOOL BOND QUESTION.

Would it be a good investment? Massachusetts expends $38.55 every year per pupil. Her total investment for education every year is over $14,000,000. Tennessee expends $4.62 per pupil every year. Her total investment for education every year is only $1,628,313. Kentucky expends $7.21 per pupil per year. Her total investment for education is only $2,871,663.

The number of pupil children in the above states are very near the same and so the following comparisons of the wealth producing ability of the three states show the value of money when put into the education of the children. This same proportion between education and production is observed whether in the power states of South Dakota or Iowa or in the older states of New York or Connecticut.

The wealth producing ability of the people of Massachusetts is $728,000,000, or $260 for every man, woman and child in the state.

The wealth producing ability of the people of Tennessee is $232,000,000, or $116 for every man, woman and child in the state. So we see that $12,000,000 a year invested in education brings more than $400,000,000 per year more than Tennessee receives for her investment.

An investment in education always pays a big interest. For these reasons I shall vote for the bond issue.

D. E. WILSON.

The Children's Plea.

(Tune Mount Vernon Hells.)
While the autumn skies are smiling
While the leaves drift down
Come a round of children's voices
Floating from our native town.

"Men of Paducah,
We, your children, plead,
Hear our prayer for education,
Help us in our childhood's need."

"Give to us an education,
Fit us for the strife;
Let us not in darkness wander
Help us live a useful life."

Vote the issue on next Tuesday,
Make your children free;
Save our schools and save our city
"Vote the bonds," our plea.

When November's battle over
And with victory blest,
We shall know for coming ages
Voting for the bonds was best.
Paducah, Oct. 29, 1908. M. E.

Tax Penalty December 1.

The people who are worrying about the penalty on state taxes going into effect on the first of November as it has been before, will have another month this year to think about it. At the meeting of the last legislature it was decided that the penalty would not go into effect till December 1 instead of November 1.

HUNTERS AND LOGGERS

ENJOYING DRY WEATHER.
The drought, while detrimental to many lines of business, has some benefits. One is that duck hunting is fine, and another is to the loggers in the swamps. Up the Ohio river the ducks are numerous. Messrs. John Breckinridge and R. M. Hoggan went to Cottonwood bar and returned this morning with fifty fine ducks. Owing to the water in the swamps drying up the birds have been forced to live near the river in order to secure water, and the hunter does the rest. Several of the mills in Paducah are filling the yards with logs that have been brought out of the swamps and bottoms that are in ordinary weather inaccessible to wagons. Places where empty wagons would formerly mire to the hub may now be crossed with heavy logs, and the loggers in the bottoms are busy bringing out wood. The Paducah Box and Basket company has a yard full of timber.

WEATHER.

PLEASANT.

Generally fair tonight and Saturday. Not much change in temperature. Frost tonight. Highest temperature yesterday, 62; lowest today, 44.

LOCAL POLITICS IS INTERESTING PADUCAH PUBLIC

Treasurer's Race Would Involve Law Suit If Mr. Walters Was Elected.

City Jailor's Race Involves Care of City Property.

COUNCILMEN AND TRUSTEES

National issues alone do not confront Paducah voters. There is a local ticket of importance for their consideration. Although the attorney general of Kentucky has advised City Treasurer Dorian, who is on his second term, that he was eligible when elected and entitled to hold office four years, a Democratic faction has put out a candidate for the position and has announced that the organization will make a legal fight for the office, if its candidate is successful at the polls.

After deliberating, the Republicans decided to put up a candidate against the Democratic candidate in order not to let the election go by default, desiring that the choice of the people for treasurer should not be upset, and the people's will thwarted. Consequently Mr. A. R. Grouse consented to make the race with the understanding, that if he wins, he will not stand in Mr. Dorian's way.

Mr. Dorian, himself, stands on his right to the office and the flattering majority given him last year, and he has not surrendered his position by the candidacy of Mr. Grouse. If the Democratic candidate is elected Mr. Dorian will remain in the office, unless the Democratic candidate chooses to institute proceedings, by the result of which, of course, both would have to abide. So that the people will hardly object to a law suit by voting for the Democratic candidate, that will cost the city dear in the office that handles the taxes.

It is not necessary to expatiate on Mr. Dorian's qualifications and fitness for the office. He has been elected twice, leading his ticket, and his collections are far better than those of any other city of the second class; and significantly, Mr. Dorian's collections average better the last three years than they did the first year. He has learned the cheapest and most expeditious way of getting in the taxes, as well as all other city revenue.

Soon after Mr. Dorian was elected local politicians dug up a law, which they said made him ineligible and his opponent on the Democratic ticket, consulted attorneys for the purpose of proceeding to secure the office. He gave it up. Then Mr. Dorian was permitted to remain in peace in the office until this fall. Efforts were made by the Long faction of the Democratic party to induce several men to accept the nomination, but when they learned they were to be stalking horses behind which these politicians were to institute legal proceedings to oust a man, whom the people of Paducah had twice elected to office, and get possession of the office for political purpose only, they declined.

Then Mr. George Walters, one of the enthusiastic workers of the Harrison crowd of the last municipal campaign, consented to make the race on condition that the politicians put up the money and make the fight. This was agreed upon, and it is up to the people, now, whether they desire Mr. Dorian to continue collecting taxes or whether they desire to have the office tied up in a long bitter law suit.

For City Jailor.
For city jailor to fill the unexpired term, Captain Wade Brown, who was appointed by Mayor James P. Smith at the solicitation of some of the best citizens of Paducah, is a candidate, and against him is pitted Patrolman James W. Clark. Captain Brown has made a remarkably fine record in the office. He has rejuvenated the city hall and he has installed means of getting hot water into the jail below, where he has the place scrubbed constantly, an effective war waged against vermin, and the prisoners themselves cleaned up. He takes good care of the city property, and his proverbial honesty insures the city against the petty thefts so common in such an office, which would rob the city of thousands of dollars in a term. Captain Brown, firm, industrious, kindly, is an ideal man for city jailor.

The Aldermanic Ticket.
For the Aldermanic ticket the Republican ticket furnishes a pick of most excellent men, most of them tried in office. W. T. Miller has served several terms and has devoted much valuable time to the public business. No man in Paducah is better acquainted with the finances and needs of the city, and so

Election Odds Offered.

New York, Oct. 30.—There is much talk but little betting on the general political situation throughout the country, according to dispatches. Here Taft is six to one favorite. It is reported $30,000 was bet at this figure. In the state fight odds have shifted from Charles to Hughes. Ten to nine and ten to eight now are offered without takers. Few bets of any character are made. Chicago reports under $100 bet, although the odds offered favor Taft. Boston odds of five to one on Taft are offered with few takers. Louisville's three to one favor Taft with no takers. Three to one that Bryan carries Kentucky is untaken.

China is Receiving Fleet in Royal Style at Amoy, Although Fear of Revolutionists Restricts Scope.

Amoy, China, Oct. 30.—The fleet is receiving a royal welcome. The high officials, and many entertainments for the sailors. The scope of the reception is greatly restricted because of threats of Chinese revolutionists to attack the city. The town is strongly guarded. The fleet is confined to the reception buildings. The sailors' liberty is restricted because of the fear of cholera.

Amoy, Oct. 30.—The eight battleships comprising the second squadron of the American Atlantic fleet, under command of Rear Admiral Emory, arrived here this morning after an uneventful voyage from Yokohama. To the Chinese the visit of the Americans is of far-reaching importance and every preparation has been made not only to extend to the representatives of the United States a flattering welcome, but to impress upon them China's desire of even more cordial relations with the republic than have prevailed hitherto.

These sixteen ships of the fleet left Yokohama together Sunday morning but divided into two squadrons when two days out, the first under the command of Rear Admiral Sperry, heading for Olongapo, Philippine Islands, and the second under Emory bound for Amoy. The two squadrons will join forces again at Manila, the second division being scheduled to leave this port November 1 and arrive at Manila November 7.

China will welcome the American visitors with unbounded enthusiasm. The preparations to this end are complete, and Chinamen of exalted rank will take part in the festivities. China today is struggling to preserve the territorial integrity of Mongolia.

Tenney for Taft

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 30.—Major O. L. Tenney, commander of the John C. Breckinridge camp of Confederate Veterans in this city, has announced that he will not support Bryan, but that he will vote for Taft. He regards Bryan as unsafe for the country.

Taft Pictures

A limited number of fine pictures of William H. Taft and James S. Sherman have been received in the city, and The Evening Sun has a supply, which will be distributed to those calling at the office. The pictures are the latest of the Republican candidates, and are suitable for framing.

Galveston Jubilant

Dallas, Oct. 30.—President Neill of the Farmers' Union, has signed an agreement with eighteen railroads whereby switches and spurs are to be put in every union warehouse in the state. It is the last step in carrying out the plan for the concentration of cotton in Galveston.

PADUCAH WILL PROFIT BY ELECTION OF TAFT IN MATERIAL WAY IMMEDIATELY

Paducah will profit as much as any locality by the election of Taft. This is being evidenced every day by different incidents coming to us in local business circles.

"I have a $250,000 deal on which is contingent on the election of Taft," said a prominent Paducahan today. "It is on a proposition that I have been endeavoring to interest capital in for nearly a year now, with no perceptible degree of success; but in the last week I have had letters from three different sources, and all of the same tenor; that they will be interested in the deal if Taft is elected. All of this $250,000 will be new money and will be dumped into Paducah, and I know of several other deals of almost equal magnitude, which are being held up, awaiting the verdict at the polls next week."

General business conditions, as has been shown by Dun and Bradstreet agencies, which are strictly non-partisan, are affected by the election and the universal expression is that Taft's election means the immediate consummation of big enterprises all over the country.

The Wisdom Bakery Mills, commencing Monday, will operate until 9 o'clock every night for three weeks. The mills have been rushed with orders the past few weeks and the books are so full just now that night operations are imperative to keep up with orders.

Reports from other local manufacturing concerns are of much improved conditions, many inquiries for prices, and orders for quick shipments, if small.

MANY RESPECTS PAID MEMORY OF HON. CHAS. REED

Telegrams of Condolence Pouring in From People All Over the Country.

Pallbearers Will be Confederate Veterans.

FUNERAL IS AT 3 TOMORROW

The funeral of the late Charles Reed will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Arrangements have been made for special street cars to take friends direct from the Noble home to Oak Grove.

The active pallbearers, who have been selected from the Confederate veterans, are: Dr. J. G. Brooks, Captain Harrison Watts, Charles F. Barrett, Gen. H. A. Tyler, of Hickman; Judge R. J. Barber, W. H. Patterson. The honorary pallbearers are Col. Q. Quigley, Mayor James P. Smith, Major J. H. Ashcraft, Dr. Frank Lloyd, Joseph L. Friedman, William Bornemann, Capt. James Collins, H. C. Overly, Judge James Campbell, H. E. Thompson, S. R. Caldwell, Alex. Kirkland, L. M. Reike, H. H. Noble, W. V. Noble, J. W. McKnight, Saunders A. Fowler and I. D. Wilcox.

Col. Charles Reed will be buried in his Confederate uniform, and his fellow comrades will attend the funeral in a body. Colonel Reed was a private in the war, but he served bravely and was proud that he had served in the army. Several of the members of his company reside in Paducah.

Hundreds of messages and telegrams have been received by his daughter, expressing sorrow and tender sympathy. The messages have come from all parts of the country, as Colonel Reed had a wide acquaintance with the traveling public.

Messages and telegrams of sympathy have continued to arrive today from friends and prominent men as the news of Colonel Reed's death is learned. Today J. T. Harahan, president of the Illinois Central railroad, sent a message expressing his sympathy to the relatives. Gen. H. A. Tyler, of Hickman, a prominent Confederate, arrived today from Hickman to attend the funeral and burial. General Tyler is in command now of the Forrest cavalry veterans, of whom Mr. Reed was one.

This afternoon the Palmer House was draped in memory of Colonel Reed, who was president of the company that operated the hotel.

Deb's Prediction

Chicago, Oct. 30.—Eugene Deba predicted that the next campaign issue will be between Socialism and capitalism. He says Socialism will grow in four years until it obliterates the other parties.

Bryan in Ohio

Cleveland, Oct. 30.—Bryan is making his final tour of Ohio. His route includes Cleveland and Toledo and other important cities in the northern part of the state. Tonight following a large procession, he will make two speeches here.

DYNAMITER IS SHOT DOWN WHILE GOING TO HOME

Cookeville, Tenn., Oct. 30.—Near Bloomington, Tuesday night, Lee Meadows was killed and his father, Willis Meadows, was shot in the left arm, by an unknown person or persons, concealed on the roadside. Saturday night several men went to Bloomington and produced consternation by exploding sticks of dynamite and firing pistols, as a result of which five arrests were made. Tuesday night Meadows and his son went to Bloomington. On this same night a dynamite explosion occurred in the street in front of the residence of Dr. L. H. Cardwell, mayor of the town, which broke the glass in several windows in his residence and precipitated great excitement. Later a stick of dynamite was found lying upon the steps of Eliza Howell's home. Meadows and his son had gone about half a mile from town, going in the direction of their home, when they were shot. Upon the ground where young Meadows fell, a pistol and some sticks of dynamite were found, and in his pockets cartridges fitting the pistol. Lee Meadows was under indictment for violating the age of consent law.

THE HENRY BENNETT CASE IS TRANSFERRED TO PADUCAH FOR TRIAL THIS NOVEMBER

Four Cases Set for Next Term of Federal Court, Involving Over Hundred Defendants.

CITY WILL AGAIN ENTERTAIN NIGHT RIDERS OF LYON, TRIGG AND CALDWELL COUNTIES FEW DAYS.

Four night rider suits, with an aggregate total of $200,000 damages, filed by night rider victims, will be on the docket of the federal court of the western district, which will sit November 16. The latest suit is the suit of Henry Bennett, the merchant of Dycusburg, in Crittenden county, who filed suit in Louisville for $100,000 against the night rider organization. It has been transferred to Paducah. The federal court at Paducah is the only court that has ever tried a night rider suit, the first being the Hollowell suit, in which a verdict for $25,000 was returned in the second trial.

The suits that are on the docket now are: Henry Bennett, for $100,000 damages against the organization for the Dycusburg raid; Nat. Prizzell, colored, $25,000; Maggie Scruggs, colored, $50,000, and L. A. Baker, colored, $25,000 for the Birmingham raid. The trials will draw many hundreds of defendants and witnesses and the hotels no doubt will be crowded. In the Birmingham raid there are 71 defendants, while in the Bennett suit there are 87 defendants. Should the usual degree of ability be established by the alleged night riders, the population of Paducah temporarily would be increased several hundred.

The Bennett suit arrived this morning and its trial here before Judge Walter Evans will make it one of interest. The details of the Birmingham raid have been made public, and as several copies of the suit have been sent to the organization will be exposed. The novel point of making members of the organization, although said not to be in

LIVELY RUMPUS AT COURT HOUSE HELD LAST NIGHT

That the Democratic party is closely allied with night riders has long been charged by Republican and independent newspapers but the first Democrat on record to admit such in a public speech, was M. E. Gilbert, who spoke last night at the court house. "If a Democrat was to even say he would vote the Republican ticket at this time of year the night riders would get him before morning," was the remarkable statement of the speaker. But it was not the only remarkable thing in connection with the address for many other things were said, a great many that would not look well in print. Mud was thrown as with a steam shovel and confetti of clats, lawyers, bankers, doctors, young girls and even newspaper reporters were dragged through the mire of political scandal.

A good crowd was present at the meeting, which was held for the purpose of allowing the candidates for county attorney to discuss the race. Gilbert is a candidate for that place and during the campaign the somewhat notorious Griffith-Gilbert will once have been made one of the issues. It was brought in by Gilbert attacking the fiscal court for alleged extravagances and improper management and graft. Judge Lightfoot was bitterly attacked and at a previous meeting had arisen to a point of personal privilege and defended his administration, charging that Gilbert's real grievance was not against the fiscal court but himself personally, because he had refused to allow a suspected bill to be prohibited.

Judge Lightfoot was present last night and at the conclusion of the address by the candidates for county attorney reiterated the charges he had previously made and also said that Gilbert was striking over his shoulder at an orphan girl, who had been brave enough to stand up and prevent her patrimony from being stolen.

All the words that have been coined and that are used to frame up alive and vilifying phrases were employed during the evening to the great enjoyment of the crowd, which remained until almost midnight to enjoy all the fun.

Sanders Clay, A. E. Boyd and Lafayette Harper, the other three candidates, also spoke.

the raid, defendants in the suit will be tested in the court.

Night Rider Constitution.
Union City, Tenn., Oct. 30.—It is reported here on what is considered good authority, that the constitution and by-laws of the night riders were procured and brought here and have been, or will be, placed in the hands of the grand jury.

This constitution and by-laws, among many other things, provides that no bank or trust company will be permitted to make any loans, large or small, for a greater rate of interest than 6 per cent, and further, that after the first day of July, 1909, no farmer will be allowed to employ any colored help on his farm, and that all negroes will be notified to leave the country under penalty of death; that all merchants shall sell their goods and merchandise at not exceeding 10 per cent profit, and otherwise regulating all wages to be paid by the farmer for help, and regulating the price of all farm products to be sold, cotton, corn, etc.

These by-laws show that the organization does not only comprise the night riders of Ohio county, but includes all night rider organizations all over the entire country. This document is of such importance that a verbatim copy cannot be had, as it is said that it is very valuable as evidence.

Union City, Tenn., Oct. 30.—I had been told that the night rider, in the presence of Attorney General Caldwell, Judge W. H. Swigart and Felix W. Moore, the third attorney who will assist the state in the prosecution, repeated his full confession, adding new facts and details and narrowing down the band of night riders known to him to twenty-five, all of whom he says are now under arrest at Camp Nemo. He said that the night riders were divided into squads, one having its headquarters in the north end of the lake district and the other in the south end. They were known as the "upper" and "lower" bands. They had two regular meeting places. One was known as the "Big Woods," a heavy strip of timber lying in the hills between Samberg and Protemus. The other was known as "Hogus Hollow," and is just about a mile from Sprout Springs where a large number of arrests have been made by the soldiers and possemen.

The Reelfoot Lake Night Riders' association had a total membership of about 100 in July last. Then they descended in force upon the town of Hornsbeck, about six miles from the lake. There is a local brass band in Hornsbeck, and the night riders rode to the homes of the members and forced them to get out of their beds, dress and bring their instruments to the public square.

Morse on the Stand.
New York, Oct. 29.—Morse on the stand in his own defense flatly contradicted Curtis, his codefendant, in several important particulars. Morse couldn't remember details of large loans to cheap clerks, but denied they were made at his request as Curtis testified. He attempted to show throughout that Curtis was responsible for the affairs of the Bank of North America. He also attacked Wesley Oler, president of the ice trust. He declared Oler begged investment in ice instead of Morse soliciting him, as Oler said.

Mrs. Katherine Brady
Metropolis, Ill., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Mrs. Katherine Brady, mother of Mrs. John Brady, of the Cowling, and of Mr. Eugene Brady, of Evansville, Ind., died last night. She was buried this afternoon at Brookport. Mrs. Brady was 82 years old and had been a devout Catholic since girlhood.

A Texas Prayer.

On this odoriferous and opalescent October Sabbath morning, when the Lord and all His angels are with us in Heavenly Houston—the City of Anthems—it is a sweetly solemn thought that nine days hence the salty old Democracy of the country, following where the gleaming blade of Gideon flashes in the sunlight, shall slash and cut down the Republican millions of darkness and establish in the halls of government and in the postoffices and other places of enrollment a reign of justice, administered by the eager and hungry horde of patriots who have been feeding on the mast in the political tall timber for a dozen years. And may the Lord grant that as the fat and sondri forces of greed cross the Red Sea of defeat, the waters of political oblivion may swallow them up, so that our patriots may enjoy in undisturbed comfort and serenity the good things of office forever and forever.—Houston Post.

FIRE INSURANCE FOR ASSOCIATION

Suggested by President Ewing
in Annual Message.

Head of Dark Tobacco Planters Des plices Night Hiding and De-nomes Critics.

SAYS TO STAND BY FRIENDS.

In his annual letter to the Planters' Protective association, President Felix G. Ewing advocates fire and life insurance for the association on the assessment plan, assessments to be deducted from the tobacco money, and suggests pay for the board of directors, which he will fix under instructions from the directors. He deplores criticisms about regarding, and denounces night riding. He says the association "has rigidly held aloof from politics," but "the board of directors know neither politics nor religion as a body. They think every sane man who has endured the hardships and struggles of this contest with the trust would have to trouble recalling the names of the men who have stood in bold relief as association sympathizers, the friends of the oppressed, and if not from a sense of gratitude, from a sense of help and protection, helping the party who helped you, vote for him, and secure as many votes for him as you can, for whatever office he may aspire to."

He says:
"It would now be a perfectly easy matter to carry insurance in a limited sum on the home of every member of this association, which in the event of the could be paid by assessment upon every member of the association and to be deducted from their sales of tobacco. A fire loss today of $1,500, which would comfortably cover many a humble home of a poor man, would not equal an assessment of five cents each upon the members. Though much more difficult on account of the differences in ages, it is not impracticable that life insurance feature of the same kind may be added. All this would involve a most intricate system of bookkeeping, with a large amount of correspondence, but in my judgment the fraternal spirit would do much to counter the loss of brotherhood and greatly strengthen the organization. A protection of from $500 to $1,500 on every home, and upon the life of every member, would be a safeguard in the nature of a godsend to the women and children of the Black Patch."

"The deplorable violence which has occurred throughout the tobacco district of Kentucky and Tennessee, which has been the occasion of much unfavorable comment of the association, is such as calls forth our strongest protest and disclaimer. We would have the world know the association members are of the very flower of manhood and citizenship, strong in intellectuality and courage, as great respecters of law and liberty, and while our head is never bowed, at the voice of authority we most unswervingly declare and devote ourselves to the maintenance of law and order as the very bed-rock of civilization. It is not enough for us to say we have not committed any or condoned lawlessness, we must say that just as far as our voices will reach we will discourage and condemn it. It never has been, never must be, allied with this association, and this association, must, in name and reality, be as high above the standard of those many hypocrites throughout the tobacco district who traduce its character as the skies are above the earth."

LABOR MOVEMENT IS NONPARTISAN.

Daniel J. Keefe, Sixth Vice President of the A. F. of L., Insists That President Gompers Has Been Misrepresented and Denies That Any Attempt Has Been Made to Swing Labor Vote to Bryan.

TAFT A FRIEND OF LABORING MAN.

"We insist that the labor movement shall remain as free and independent from political domination as it has ever been in its history."
That sentence is the keynote to a statement made by Daniel J. Keefe of Detroit, Mich., president of the International Longshoremen, Marine and Transport Workers' association and sixth vice president of the American Federation of Labor.
In his statement, which he made in answer to a query from the editor of the Buffalo Republic, Mr. Keefe says:
"I desire to say that the American Federation of Labor is not committed to any political party, nor has any candidate for president been endorsed by the executive council."
"I am of the belief that the general public does not fully understand the position of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor in the present campaign. The policy of the labor movement is nonpartisan and is as follows:
"We desire to refute here the aspersions that have been cast upon the executive council and particularly one of its members, President Gompers, that it is our purpose of his to dictate to the working people of our country how they shall cast their votes in the coming elections, nor has any one promised the vote of the working people to any particular party. We have strongly, clearly and emphatically, as it was our duty, presented the situation in which the working people of the country find themselves, the demands which labor has made upon both political parties as to necessary action, which they should take, the treatment they have received, and have appealed to the judgment and patriotism of the working people and the friends of labor throughout the country, since both political parties have spoken, to make their choice as their conscience may dictate."
"The misrepresentation of newspapers and others to the contrary notwithstanding, we repeat and insist, and we have so conducted and propose to so conduct our course, that the labor movement shall remain as free and independent from political domination as it has ever been in its history."
"The foregoing does not commit the American Federation of Labor to any political party and is nonpartisan, which permits union men to vote for whom they may please for president and other offices without fear of criticism. All of which I heartily endorse."
"Some of the members of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor no doubt will support and vote for Mr. Bryan, which is their individual right. I shall support and vote for Mr. Taft, who was admitted to membership in the International Brotherhood of Steam Shovel and Dredge Men on account of his strong advocacy of the enforcement of the eight hour law in all government work coming under the jurisdiction of the war department, and if the eight hour day did not become an established fact in connection with dredge work it was the fault of the workmen and not the fault of the secretary of war."
"I might add further that Mr. Taft, as secretary of war, has done more to enforce laws in favor of organized labor than all his predecessors."

Seeking a Buried Fortune.

who will introduce many bright and sparkling specialties, including new jokes, new songs, duets, trios and medleys of all the latest and most popular airs of the day.

Black Patch.

The Black Patch Troubadours will this season present a company of dramatic proportions. This company has always given the best performance of songs, duets, comedy and opera, all embodied in the "Black Patch Strangers," which is the best vehicle yet used by this company, and in which the entire strength of the company is used to their capacity. The vaudeville feature of the show is very strong, including "Whitney & Tutti Comedy Duo," presenting "Soldiers of Fortune," "Slim Henderson," "The New Orleans Hotchkiss," "James Holman," "The Twentieth Century Musical Marvel," "The Famous Black Patch Quartet," and "Black Patch," the greatest singer of her race, coming to The Kentucky Tuesday, November 13.

A Packed House.

"The Bowling Green opera house was packed to its utmost capacity last evening when Mr. Edwin H. Topmiller presented the Rosamond Musical company for the approval of the theater-going public, says the Times-Journal, Bowling Green, Ky."

"A more appreciative audience never greeted any attraction before and round after round of vociferous applause showed how intensely each and every act was appreciated and enjoyed."

"The company is headed a capable and each and every particular is an artist. The songs are all new and up-to-date and they were made more beautiful by the Rosamond Symphony Orchestra, whose accompaniments were beyond criticism."
"Space forbids personal mention of all who deserve it, but suffice it to say the jokes and songs of the end men and the ballads of the Rosamond choir were well received, each and every one responding to a number of encores."

"The chorus work is also worthy of praise and the solos made up entirely of refined vaudeville."

It is special arrangement and benefit of our patrons the management here has contracted for a special wire into The Kentucky on the night of the Rosamond musical. Election results announced from the stage during the performance Tuesday, November 3.

"La Belle Russe" Pleases.

"La Belle Russe" pleased an appreciative audience last night at the Kentucky theater. The story was one that appealed to the audience and the acting of Miss Ethel Fuller, assisted by a capable company, won frequent applause. The play centers around Beatrice Hatherly, who has been known as La Belle Russe, and is trying to lift herself from her former life of sorrow, but she is lured by a former lover, whom she has defied. Miss Fuller took the part acceptably, and her emotional acting was all that could be desired. George H. Comer did excellent work, while Baby Adele took a child's part with all ease.

"Your son tells me that he is going to take lessons to cultivate his memory."

"I hope not," answered Farmer Courtessell; "he can remember every fool tune that was ever whistled."—Washington Star.

DEFENSE OF CORSET

EXPERT COMMENTS INSTRUCTIVE OF TORTURE AS ESSENTIAL.

Dr. Landone Would Drive Away Fatigue With Muscle and Chaper.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 27.—Dr. L. R. Landone, whose plan to improve the human race by applying Luther Burbank's plant theories in the training of children by selection has brought considerable attention from the scientific world, recommends the modern corset. Addressing the members of the Hundred Year club, the leading women's organization of Los Angeles, today, he said:

"Corsets, the sort worn today, are good for the reason that the torso muscles have been weakened for generations until now the average female will not stand without them."

"In the time of Queen Elizabeth," continued Landone, "they wore steel corsets tightly buckled in back and front. They were instruments of torture. From them are evolved the comfortable corsets of today. I don't if the torso muscles of women would be supported in their weakened condition after a generation of corset wearing except for some artificial prop."

In addition to placing indorsement on many things that health faddists and physical teachers heretofore have scorned and in pulling in pieces some of the time honored theories of the medical profession, Landone dwelt on the value of cultivating love, cheerfulness, and good thoughts toward mankind. For, he said, the body in substance is composed of chemicals and is at the mercy of the emotions. Anger, hatred, and sorrow will poison the fluids of the body, while love, cheerfulness and happiness serve to make the blood pure, healthful, and normal.

"Anger and hatred will poison the fluids of the woman's body," declared the speaker. "Many instances, 50 or 100 years ago, and of recent date, were found where sorrow and fear paralyzed the system, not for a few days, but permanently, and where raven locks turned white in twenty minutes from intense fear."

"Pleasure stimulates. That is why, when tired and worn, especially when young, an evening gay with dancing and music will remove any signs of fatigue and one will be more rested the day following than if he should yield to an attempt to sleep, the fatigue off."

"We should move according to curves. Motion should be adapted to muscles. The Greeks were the greatest people in the world because they knew and applied these principles. A wave of apron exercises should be part of one's daily life. One should be indulged in musical accompaniment. Not only does this serve to stimulate and develop the body along graceful lines, but also serves to equalize circulation, eliminate poisons, and otherwise aid the system."

"Yes," he said, "the gentle spring is the season I particularly adore. Oh, the air, the sunshine, the lazy hills! Where do you find such tender greens and whites as the spring verdure discloses to us?"

"If you really wish for an answer," he said, "I think you can find them in a well-made salad."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

UNAVOIDABLE

WAS ACCIDENT THAT CAUSED DEATH OF T. J. SPIDELL.

People on Train Heard Whistle and Felt Application of the Air Brakes.

"Unavoidable" was the verdict returned yesterday afternoon by the coroner's jury investigating the death of T. J. Spidell, who was killed yesterday morning by the Cairo passenger train. Engineer Burch, Fireman Starr, Express Messenger Johnson and Phil Stephen, a passenger, testified to hearing the warning whistle and feeling the air brakes go on suddenly. The verdict was: "We, your jury, find that Mr. Spidell came to his death by an unavoidable accident caused by train No. 522 at Terrell's crossing October 29, 1908. Frank Smooley, W. B. Padgett, R. Padgett, George Andrecht, George Kreutzer, Charles McCarty.

La France SHOE FOR WOMEN

The "WHY" of the Flexible Welt

Here is something new for women to whom ordinary shoes seem clumsy and uncomfortable. It is the La France Flexible Welt. The little illustration below shows in a graphic way how elastic this shoe is.

The leather sole bends with remarkable ease, thus adapting itself to every position assumed by the foot, particularly when walking.

This shoe produces the effect of lightness and a delightful sensation of comfort. Perhaps a good way to express it would be to say that the Flexible Welt feels like no shoes at all, except that the foot is supported just as fully and satisfactorily as would be the case if a heavy stiff shoe were worn.

We want every woman who is looking for a maximum of comfort combined with true beauty and the latest shoe styles, to come in and ask to see this Flexible Welt shoe.

UNIQUE GAMES FOR HALLOWE'EN

No Need of Expensive Plans For Holiday.

Human Tangle Races With the Men Blindfolded Create Much Gaiety.

HOW TO DECORATE FOR IT.

There is no need for any one to patronize expensive florists for decorations suitable for the celebration of this ancient festival, since a trip to the woods or even a visit to the corner grocery will furnish the necessary kind of ornamentation, for branches of autumn leaves and cabbages, the latter hollowed out and suspended from chandeliers, make delightful centers for holding half a dozen candles stuck in bottles. Or the cabbages may be utilized as effective pieces for the table if filled with fruit. Pumpkins may be cut boat shape, then stored with apples, etc., and autumn leaves. Everyone knows the decorative possibilities of pumpkins made into Jack-o'-lanterns, with the eyes of the "Jack" covered with red silk to give an eerie effect. Corn in sheaves or on the ear furnish delightful ornamentation for rooms.

At a successful Arizona celebration held last year, the guests were received at the door by a "scarecrow man" supported by the hall table. His face was a wired mask made from rampant streamers of leaves, and a clawlike hand, fashioned from an old white kid glove, its fingers filled with wet bran and distended at various angles, pointed to the stairway, where other large black hands, cut from paper, designated the different rooms the guests were to enter.

In the dining room, ropes of cranberries, popcorn and scarlet peppers, sheaves of wheat, golden carrots, crimson beets, rosy cheeked apples and yellow pears formed effective and handsome decorations.

On the lawn was a campfire, above which a big kettle was suspended from three poles. The contents of the kettle were stirred assiduously by three witches. Instead of a regular witches' "brew," the kettle contained delicious coffee, which was served by the witches.

At a New York frolic held in 1907, the drawing room walls, furniture and chandeliers were draped with light grey cheesecloth, upon which long bows, bands and skulls, cut from black paper, were pinned. A number of black kid gloves, filled with wet bran were placed where the company would run against them, so the cold clammy fingers would send shudders through their bodies.

Pumpkin masks, grotesquely carved and decorated with burnt cork eyebrows and paper horns that added to their demoniacal expression were brought into relief from dark closets by candles that burned within them. Behind these masks stood strouged forms which each guest was presented to in turn to hear the words of the oracle.

Other Halloween Games.

As ordeals by fire are peculiarly hallowe'en sports, an open fire in the house whether in the fireplace, the kitchen cook stove or the cellar furnace, will serve as a center for the various charms and ceremonies.

And first, of course, comes the old spell of the nuts, when each party, having been supplied with two nuts, names them and lays them side by side before the open fire. If these burn together, the angry husks speak a happy wedded life, but if they "from each other wildly start, and with a noise forever part," the prospect is dubious for a happy wedded life.

After such tests, pass around a bundle of twigs or splinters, and let each guest light his or hers at the fire and whirl it rapidly before his face, repeating the old jingle, "Din, gin, dingle, dangle, the cat's in the well; the dogs awn' to Berwick to buy a new bell."

If the brand continues burning, emitting many sparks, there is money and good luck coming. If extinguished and goes out, there is loss of property.

Another game, called "The Name of One's Future," is played by the time-honored hallowe'en games, bobbing for apples, throwing apple parings over the head to see the initial letter it makes, naming apple seeds and sticking them on the walls to find out who sticks fastest, jumping over twelve lighted candles, one at a time, naming the months of the year as one jumps, the first candle extinguished by the draft showing the month when the jumper's wedding will take place, there are new games that add their quota to the fun.

For a contest with appropriate prizes, threading wet pumpkin seeds on a string proves a slippery undertaking. A blind tandem race, where a girl drives with red reins a blindfolded man, through several rooms, returning to the starting point at the front door, makes much jollity. There seems at a time should be started, the first one reaching the goal receiving the prize.

Husband or Wife.
Having seated the guests about a large table, provide each with a canner of water in which fifteen letters of the alphabet have been placed upside down. These may be cut from an old magazine. Now let each person blow the letters in his or her dish in a line, then take out with a pin, one by one, reverse them and spell the name of her future mate.

Supper.
Supper should be served early, as the hour before midnight must be reserved for ceremonies that can be tried at no other time. Any menu made up with nuts and apples in the assemblage will be appropriate. The drink should be sweet cider.

Of course there should be a dumb cake, a fate cake, or hallowe'en cake. Directions for these will be printed.

"We ain't a-goin' to let you play with us."
"Why not?"
"Yer a professional."
"How do make that out?"
"Didn't yer git half a apple for playin' center on Mick Baker's team 's week?"—Denver Post.

Daily Thought.

He who lives but for himself lives but for a little thing.—Novels.

The joke's on us. What'll you have?

Let the people rule in their choice of City Treasurer Dorlan.

A vote for George Walters is a vote for a lawsuit.

Governor Patterson has issued orders to shoot any man seen wearing a mask. Following Wilson's example.

Four banks in a town of 1,000 inhabitants and two banks in a town of 150 inhabitants indicates either that Oklahoma is in a most remarkably flourishing condition or that the bank deposit guaranty scheme is breeding a host of speculating banks.

As one thinks of that Vaughn Bennett murder case, ten years was very little punishment for two men who deliberately waylaid and murdered an innocent young man, and very harsh punishment for killing a night rider, bent on crime.

No more evidence has been secured against the Reelfoot assassins than has been obtained against Kentucky night riders; and convictions are certain as soon as local officials and courts not in sympathy with night riding are secured. It didn't take the federal court long to get a verdict in the Hollowell case. The Reelfoot assassins haven't been tried and convicted, or even indicted yet.

Citizens of Clarksville, Tenn., know how much protection Governor Patterson has been giving people in the night rider infested section. A prominent and influential man was murdered by fishermen in the wild Reelfoot country and the governor finds it a convenient time for a grand stand play; but people, obscure people, have been murdered near Clarksville, men have been whipped and their property destroyed; citizens are compelled to take turns guarding the approaches to Clarksville nightly, and they petitioned the governor for protection without avail. No Governor Patterson is not going about his work like Governor Wilson.

THE DOMINANT FACTION.
About the only thing that could be accomplished by aiding Democratic success in the local election next Tuesday would be to fasten on the party organization the clutches of the faction, which was so emphatically rebuked in the mayoralty contest last fall. One of the most ardent workers of that faction is named for city treasurer, admittedly running at the expense of the organization, to invoke a lawsuit with the incumbent, who was elected by the people.

In the primary, which was conducted by the Laug faction, a well known Republican was put on the aldermanic ticket, and he drew sufficient votes to defeat H. R. Lindsey and E. W. Baker, a trick, in which the principal actor was innocent, but which was so palpable that the local organ was forced to come out in an editorial and express belated regret over the occurrence, although it never had a word to say on the subject before the primary, and Mr. Laug himself in a published card said in substance: "Hope to die, I didn't do it!"

It is a well known fact that those people, who refused to swallow the morsel prepared for them by this faction last fall have been classified as "Snub Democrats," and those who failed to stand by the organization, that time, were punished in the primary this year.

The same crowd tried to make it essential to voting in the primary this fall that the voter first voted for Bryan, in order to cram their theories down the throat of the gold Democrats, but this has failed.

The whipping they got last fall has not prevailed to make this faction lose its grip on the organization. It will take another one.

Just compare the men on the opposing tickets, as you did last year, and then do as you did last year, and after awhile they will cease to presume that you will vote for anybody they suggest.

Are you a good citizen of Paducah?

ESSENTIAL POINTS ABOUT THE BOND ISSUE.

There are essential points in this school bond issue question that must be kept in mind. First the interests of the schools and the pupils, and second that of the taxpayers.

There is no one, who believes that any proposed school measure will heap an excessive burden on any one taxpayer or group of them. There are some, who have a lingering suspicion that somehow the issuance of school bonds will affect the city's right to issue bonds at any time. That is wrong. The school board is a separate and independent corporation from the city, and the law, which limits the city to bonds, aggregating a certain percent of the assessed valuation of taxable property, has nothing to do with school bonds. So dismiss these two considerations from your mind. No tax payer will feel any additional burden on account of any proposed school outlay, and the city's privilege of issuing bonds will not be curtailed a cent.

Paducah should have good schools; because the quality of our citizenship depends upon the way our citizens are trained for the duties of citizenship, and particularly the laboring men, members of the union, should see that their boys are educated to carry on to perfection the work they themselves have undertaken. Paducah should have exceptionally good schools, because she is the metropolis of a large territory with no big educational institutions in it, and the common schools are the foundation of any sort of educational development.

The schools should be sanitary above all else; because a child's health is the first essential of well being. The requisite no argument. An education that injures a child's health is wholly bad. The schools must be properly equipped, and the schools must be kept going.

Now, a former board spent more money that it had a right to in erecting two school buildings. The city has the buildings and must pay for them. The debt on the buildings created a big interest account, and the creditors, of course, had a right to press their claims. The present board was compelled to pay out revenue on the debt, and then, rather than see the schools closed, the trustees pledged their personal credit to raise money at the bank. It has taken $20,000 of the schools' precious revenue this year to meet the deficit occasioned by the payments. The board succeeded in borrowing from a bank a sum to pay current expenses for a few weeks. That sort of thing, of course, can't continue indefinitely, and every loan adds to the interest account.

The trustees declare that after paying into the school fund this $20,000 they will use only so much of the bond money as is necessary to put the schools in proper sanitary condition and equip them. The remainder of the money will be available when the time comes to erect more buildings. The city needs more school buildings now to properly house the pupils; but she has not the revenue to maintain them. The next stop after the voting of the bonds will be how much protection Governor Patterson has been giving people in the night rider infested section. A prominent and influential man was mur-

BANK DEPOSIT GUARANTEE.

"The plank in the Democratic platform which proposes the establishment of a guarantee fund to secure deposits in national banks comes nearer to being an acute issue in the present campaign than any thing else yet discussed," says the Nashville Banner.

"This is true because it has been proposed by Mr. Bryan and is openly opposed by Mr. Taft. There is hardly any other question on which the two candidates stand in such complete opposition.

This is a new question born in the experimental state of Oklahoma, and the limited trial it has had in that new commonwealth is the only practical test yet made of its operation. The burden of proof lies on Mr. Bryan to show that it is practical and would be beneficial, and though Mr. Bryan has been always prolific of financial theories and panaceas for financial troubles, there is no good reason why the public should give implicit and unquestioning faith to his judgment. The bankers and financiers of Europe and America have been for many centuries busy with all questions of the kind and none of them have kindly to the proposition. Their judgment is entitled to respectful consideration, but, of course, they are not infallible. It is a matter that should be considered soberly and carefully, and it is to be regretted that it should be made a campaign issue. It is altogether farcical and cannot be otherwise than prejudicial for grave financial questions to be made the subject of campaign treatment.

Slips of paper that bear some resemblance to bank notes are being circulated by the Democratic campaign managers to create popular sentiment on this issue. One side of these slips is said to represent money guaranteed by all the banks in the country which Mr. Bryan proposes, and the other money guaranteed by "any old bank" which Mr. Taft proposes. Of course, this is misleading. All national bank notes are endorsed by the government and good without reference to the solvency of the bank of issue. The guarantee policy has reference to the security of deposits. But the mere circulation of these slips of paper makes a fair sample of campaign methods, and show how ridiculous it is to decide such questions by popular vote.

Panics come from decline in the value of industrial securities probably oftener than any other source. Such a decline may come from various causes. The trust of a European war is at present having such an effect. The guarantee of bank deposits could not relieve a situation like that. It might, however, in some instances prevent banks from failing, and that would be a commendable feature if it did not offer more serious considerations. In any light, it is matter for grave thought by the best financial intellect and not a proper subject for political treatment. It is, however, a matter that appeals to the popular imagination and which the politicians, therefore, like to use in their usual way, but it should be reserved for thoughtful consideration in congressional committees, and not paraded as vote-catching material on the hustings."

His Regret.

Mr. Silas Barker had been cheated in a horse trade, according to a writer in the Washington Star, and the experience formed his chief topic of conversation for some time.

"Can't you get over talking about the way you got cheated in that horse trade?" suggested a friend, who had heard the story several times.

"No," answered Mr. Barker. "I don't mind the man's getting my money so much, but I do hate to think that I have lost his respect."

Goodart—You didn't actually tell him that I didn't think him much of a poet?
Wiseman—Sure.
Goodart—Oh! I wouldn't have had you do that for the world—
Wiseman—Nonsense! That doesn't hurt him. It only makes him pity you.—Catholic Standard.

RAILROADS

REQUIRED TO USE CAUTION IN HANDLING EXPLOSIVES.

Federal Laws Are Being Enforced and Job Printers Are Rushed With Orders for Work.

To promote the safe transportation of explosives, acids and other dangerous articles, the railroads, in response to an order from the Interstate Commerce Commission, have issued circulars containing instructions to their employees and shippers. The law will go into immediate effect in compliance with a law passed by congress and approved by President Roosevelt. Shippers of explosives, inflammables and acids of all kinds must be marked plainly on each package, describing the exact contents and labels must be attached too, that due prominence may be given. Each shipping order must bear a certificate signed by the shipper that the material for shipment is properly packed, marked and in proper condition for transportation according to the regulations.

No shipments of explosives, inflammables, or acids will be accepted by the railroads unless the regulations have been complied with. Heavy penalties have been prescribed against the shipper as well as the carrier for violations of the law.

The instructions issued by the railroad companies are thorough and railroad men have banded the midnight oil in order that they may understand the law fully. Briefs have been prepared for the printer so that every railroad employee may understand the law, and avoid a penalty. As the law will go into immediate effect the job printing offices are well crowded with rush jobs for labels in explosives.

The law is one of safety to the railroad men, as they will know what they are handling. When labeled the boxes will be handled with care and not dropped and pitched as other common freight. Frequently explosions have occurred by explosives being too warm.

MRS. ASTOR NEAR DEATH.

Leader of New York Four Hundred Suffers Heart Affection.

New York, Oct. 30.—Mrs. William Astor, former queen of New York society, was near unto death today. Dr. Austin Flint, the family physician, spent most of the day in constant attendance. All the members of her household were summoned. John Jacob Astor, who lives next door to his mother's residence, did not venture out of doors until evening, when Mrs. Astor's condition improved slightly.

"Mrs. Astor had a sudden return of an old heart affection about four weeks ago," said Dr. Flint. "Since then she has had several attacks of the same kind. At present she is resting easily."

It was also learned that Mrs. M. Orme Wilson had collapsed as the result of her faithful attention at the sick bed of her mother.

Dr. Flint would not discuss Mrs. Astor's illness, except to state its cause and emphasize its seriousness.

Probably Exaggerated.

Among the begging letters recently received at the office of a benevolent society was one running thus:

"This unfortunate young man is the only son of a widow, who died childless, and his earnings maintain his aged father and infant brothers, whose sole support he is."

The secretary of the society wrote on the margin of the epistle the following note:

"The circumstances of the case are evidently exaggerated."—Royal Magazine.

LOCAL POLITICS

man is better able to do the office he is chairman of the finance committee and has been honest and faithful, as well as capable.

Alderman H. S. Wells has been on the board by appointment of Mayor Smith, an appointment that was made after consultation with leading citizens of both parties and his nomination is a recognition of the public's right to dictate.

Mr. Fluk Lack, a well known business man, well qualified to transact municipal affairs and is interested in the city's welfare.

J. S. Walsion is a former member of the school board, who stood out against the extravagances that led to the present dilemma and refused to lend countenance to a former board's exorbitant authority. He is well known and a popular business man.

Councilman H. W. Cornelson is a man who has listened to the requests of numbers of citizens, who insisted on his accepting the nomination for alderman, although he had no ambition. He has been an exceptionally good councilman, and it was his conservative strength or that board that induced his constituents to demand a place for him on the alderman's ticket.

Conciliatory Ticket.

For councilmen the ticket is equally as strong as for aldermen. Some of the candidates are old members, all are well known and capable. Mr. John W. Belmont in the First Ward, is well known to his prospective constituency and will add great strength to the ticket.

In the Second, no one is better known than Mr. John Rock in the Third ward C. M. Biker, of the West Kentucky Coal company, would bring extensive ability and knowledge of affairs to his committee work. J. L. Wanner, the candidate in the Fourth ward, is popular and known to be exceptionally well qualified. T. E. Ford, of the Fifth, and R. S. Barnett, of the Sixth, need no introduction to their constituency.

The School Ticket.

Public attention has been much engrossed with school matters the last few weeks, and the people have come to the realization of the truth of what The Sun has been saying for two years, that the trouble with the schools has been the school boards.

At present the city has a board that in many respects is exceptionally good. President Bondurant, who is a candidate for reelection in the Second ward, and R. S. Morris, of the Fifth ward, have with others pledged their own credit more than once to keep the schools going under the blight of former mismanagement of funds, and they have devoted good business hours and sleeping hours to solving the financial riddle, which is embarrassing the schools. They have been through as experience that is valuable, suffering from the mistakes of others, and they are the better equipped for the experience, as well as deserving recognition.

The others on the ticket with them are men of the same calibre, having been selected with especial care. In the First ward is William H. Poore; in the Third, Oscar B. Starks; in the Fourth, Ed Hubbard; in the fifth for the short term is J. U. McQueen; in the Sixth are R. R. Treadway and W. E. Hickman.

Let the people who live in the wards in which these candidates for council and school trustees are running, closely investigate their records and characters from authentic sources and then let them vote, not for the success of their party, but for the best interests of Paducah and the Paducah schools.

Concerning Drug Stocks!

A large, well selected stock enables us to supply the wants of a greater number of people and those more promptly than if we were handicapped by a small incomplete stock. We find our big stock a very great aid in filling prescriptions, too, enabling us to give what the doctor orders without the delay of sending out for it.

Furthermore, we can often make very low prices on goods in quantity lots.

Better Odds.

A farm laborer was taken ill on a visit to London, and a friend gave him the address of a doctor to whom to go. The fellow soon came back and reported progress.

"I've taken some medicine," said he; "but I'm hanged if I went to that doctor of yours."

"Why?" asked his friend.

"Well," he replied, "I was just about to go in when I saw that his doorplate had his name, 'Dr. N.' and below it 'to 1.' When I saw that I added to myself: 'If he hanged if I take such risks as that.' So I went a few doors further up street and saw another plate with 'Dr. Y.' and below it '1 to 5.' The odds were better, so I went in."

After inheriting a fortune a crank gets to be merely eccentric.

"Christ's Promise to the Dying Thief" will be the subject of the sermon tonight, and a large congregation is expected, as some candidates for membership will be baptized. Last night Dr. Nowlin preached on "Our Portfolios for Young Men," and it was a lofty discourse full of interest to the young men. Seventeen additions have been made to the church. Kaiser's Opera Bill $200,000.

Some interesting statistics are published regarding the extent to which the German Emperor personally subsidizes the Royal opera house and the Royal theater in Berlin. Of a total of $625,000 expended on them by the Prussian budget, $112,500 is contributed from the Kaiser's private exchequer. In addition he bears the annual deficit, something like $75,000 sometimes as much as $100,000, says a Berlin letter to the New York Times.

Thus the Imperial patronage of dramatic and operatic arts represents a tidy sum of $200,000 per annum. This sum, however, does not exhaust the list of the Kaiser's theatrical expenses, for every time he commands a performance, the seats for which are distributed to his personal guests and friends, he must buy out the entire seating capacity of the theater, averaging a total of $1,250 for each such affair.

The salaries of the Kaiser's operatic and dramatic stars are, of course, small compared with those paid in New York. Not one gets more than $10,000 a year. The general manager of the whole royal theatrical department receives only $4,000 a year in addition to the free use of the official residence. Nevertheless, the bill the Kaiser will have to foot at the end of this year will be the heaviest he has ever paid, for it includes the cost of producing his cherished historical pageant, the Assyrian pantomime, "Sardanapalus," which alone cost over $75,000 before the curtain rose on the first performance.

W. O. W. at Metropolis.

Children Write to Mayor.

Nineteen letters from school children, advocating the bond issue, were mailed today to Mayor James P. Smith. The letters were written by pupils in the A. sixth grade, which is taught by Mrs. Fannie Leddra.

Philadelphia Boasts.

Philadelphia claims to be the most American of all cities. The claim is no idle boast. The cradle of liberty was rocked in Independence Hall, and it has never ceased rocking. The city has not been exposed to the foreign influences that have come in with immigration elsewhere—that is to say, not to the same extent. It has had its share of new blood from the old world, but the sturdy American sentiment that produced a new nation has never been engulfed. It maintains better than any other large community the spirit that makes for integrity and builds up true American homes. It is the home life that makes a nation strong, and Philadelphia houses its citizens in 107,647 separate dwellings.

BOTH CANDIDATES VISIT SYRACUSE

Taft and Bryan Greeted by Immense Throngs.

There at Same Time Speaking to Audiences of Enthusiastic People.

BOTH HAD VERY BUSY DAYS

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 30.—To this city fell last night the distinction of entertaining the two men most prominent in public interest. To applauding thousands Taft and Bryan expounded respectively Republican and Democratic doctrines. Taft spoke at two meetings and Bryan at four. At each occasion the warning of "standing room only" was displayed long before the hour of meeting, and before the "big men" arrived standing room was at a premium, and hundreds were turned away. Also, in each instance the presidential candidates were received with flattering demonstrations and their speeches were frequently interrupted by spontaneous applause.

Arrived About Same Time.
The Taft and Bryan specials arrived at almost the same moment and the expressions of welcome were pretty evenly divided. Both candidates were met by local leaders and entertained at dinner. Taft spoke at the Alhambra Convention Hall and at Turner Hall. Previous to the meeting there was a Republican parade. Bryan was accompanied by Judge Alton B. Parker and I. J. Dunn. His first address was at the city hall, this being followed by speeches at the Wieting opera house, Empire hall and before the Modern Woodmen of America who entertained Bryan just before his departure for the west late last night. Taft remained in town last night.

Taft's Program.
Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 30.—Republican cheers have sounded in the wake of the Taft train which visited Lyons, Canadigua, Geneva, Seneca Falls and Auburn. The climax was reached in this city with a big parade, two meetings and overflow, flourishing audiences of thousands which Taft addressed. There has been no lack of auditors and enthusiastic demonstrations wherever the Obolans has tarried. He has hit at the roots of what he considers Democratic fallacies in every speech and has been free in expression of his optimism as to what the result will be Tuesday. Governor Hughes has been commending.

HOW TO MAKE THE BEST REMEDY

Fine Recipe for Rheumatism
and Kidney Trouble.

The following prescription for the cure of rheumatism and kidney and bladder troubles has no doubt been filled millions of times, viz.: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. These simple, harmless ingredients can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy at little cost and are mixed by shaking well in a bottle.

The dose for adults is a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime, drinking a full tumblerful of water after each dose. It is stated that this prescription is a positive remedy for kidney trouble and lame back, weak bladder and urinary difficulties, especially of the elderly people, and one of the best things to be used in rheumatic affections, relieving the aches and pains and reducing swellings.

A well-known authority states that this mixture acts directly upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys; cleanses these spongy organs and gives them power to sift and strain the poisonous waste matter and uric acid from the blood which is the cause of rheumatism.

If your back or sides ache and you suspect kidney trouble it would be wise to try this for a few days.

In strong language, likewise the remainder of the New York state ticket, and the vice-presidential candidate.

A Rival Attraction.

Here Taft had a rival attraction in the presence of Bryan, whose special car was in the station when the Taft train arrived.

At 8 o'clock Taft was driven in an automobile through the streets, escorted by several big marching clubs in uniform. The streets were crowded with people throughout the drive from the station to the Alhambra. This, the largest hall in the city, was packed to its utmost capacity and the police had a hard task to keep back the people who fought for admittance. Again last night Taft gave his strongest endorsement to Governor Hughes and said he had not, from the first, had the slightest doubt about the nomination and election of the governor.

Large German Audience.

Following the meeting at the Alhambra, Taft was escorted to Turner hall, where he addressed an audience composed largely of Germans. He then returned to his car, which remained in the city until this morning.

At Canadigua Taft made an extended speech, going into an analysis of the government. He compared the achievements of both parties in conducting the government. He used the success of the government in the Philippines as an illustration of the Republican party's "proved efficiency, its proved courage, its proved experience with reference to all issues of the government that may arise."

Continuing, he said:

Denounces Democracy.

"Now what of the Democratic party? They had power for four years, but the minute they got into power they began to quarrel over what they should do. They passed a free trade bill through one house and then in the next house they made it a kind of sectional protective bill, and before they got through it assumed such a phase that Cleveland, the leader of the party for whom we all have the highest respect, pronounced that bill an act of perfidy and dishonor, and that broke up that party and they had to divide between free silver and the gold standard.

In other words, they showed then, as they would show now if you give them the power, that the only cohesiveness that they have is the cohesiveness of opposition to the Republican party. They lack efficiency, they lack responsibility to the people for carrying on the government as it should be carried on, and this, my dear friends, without any reference to their principles, and when you get to their principles their acts are even worse."

Bryan's Program.

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 30.—The Bryan special arrived here early and found a big crowd on hand to welcome the candidate. In response to the demand of many present Bryan stopped on the station platform long enough to shake hands with several hundred persons who crowded about him. He was then hurried away for two addresses scheduled for the evening. The principal gathering was at the Wieting opera house, where Alton B. Parker also spoke. Parker lauded Bryan in a speech which contained also as much of criticism for Taft and Hughes.

"It gives me pleasure," he said, "to come here tonight, especially because I am permitted to advocate for a little time the cause of one who has ideal, lofty character and exalted patriotism—the Democratic standard bearer for the presidency."

The crowd cheered itself hoarse when he had concluded this tribute to Bryan.

Parker arrived at the opera house ahead of Bryan, whose first engagement was at the city hall, where he spoke to an immense throng. Both there and at the opera house Bryan received a rousing welcome.

In his principal remarks Bryan called attention to the fact that the campaign now was drawing to a close and that the Republicans were resorting to threats of a panic in the case he should be elected. He referred to the presence in the city of Taft and expressed wonder that Taft had not been able to save off the panic of 1907, when he was in Roosevelt's cabinet.

Caused Storm of Applause.

Bryan caused a storm of applause when, in discussing the guaranty of bank deposits as provided for in the Denver platform, he quoted, in refutation of Taft's statement that the guaranty of deposits would weaken the national banking system, an excerpt from a United States consular report, as follows:

"The well known thrift of the German people has its foundation on facts. The savings banks of Germany have some 13,000,000 marks—books out and their deposits amount to $3,213,000,000. These deposits are practically all guaranteed by the various municipalities of the empire, and the condition forms a bulwark of confidence in the security of private wealth and earnings that cannot be shaken by hard times, panics, bank failures, etc."

"Here is a fact," said Bryan, "which I present in answer to Taft's opinion. The German people cannot be accused of carelessness in their banking business any more than they can in other business. Here is testimony to be found in a consular report printed by the present administration, completely answering the arguments that Taft has been making against the guaranteeing of deposits."

The only question, he said, was whether the deposits should be guaranteed by the banks or by the community. "We believe," he declared, "that the banks have advantage enough from the law to justify them in furnishing security themselves."

Took Up All Issues.

Other issues of the campaign were taken up by turn by the Democratic candidate, who again insisted that Taft request his congressional committee to make known the source of its campaign contributions. Taft's position with respect to labor was soundly scored, and once again Bryan charged that a high protective tariff was the mother of palets. The feature of the meeting was the fact that it was presided over by Thomas W. Meacham, president of the Syracuse chamber of commerce.

Throughout the day the Democratic candidate's themes principally were "honest government" and "Republican claims for prosperity." He spoke at Cohoes, Utica, Rome, Oneida and Canastota, referring to the preparations being made for a Republican demonstration in New York City Saturday night, and said they would do better to spend their money for lodging the unfortunate people who sleep in the city's parks than to spend it in red fire, bands and costly reviewing stands.

KENTUCKY SYNOD

CUMBERLAND PRESBYTERIANS
HAVE ADJOURNED.

Former Paducah Pastor Is Elected
Moderator—Delegates Have Returned.

The Kentucky synod of the Cumberland Presbyterian church adjourned last night at Hopkinsville after holding one of the most interesting meetings for many years. The Rev. S. T. Eshman, formerly pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church in Paducah, was unanimously elected moderator and presided over the meetings with fairness and dignity.

The Rev. J. T. Barber, of Louisville, was elected synodical superintendent for the ensuing year.

Reports of much work done came from every part of the state and 125 delegates were present besides numerous visitors. The synod will meet at Central City next year.

The delegates from Paducah, who were the Rev. D. W. Fooks, pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church; Mr. H. S. Thibout and Miss Vera Province, returned home this morning.

Chief Threw Eggs at Fire.

Window curtains in the Page restaurant, 123 South Second street, caught fire last night about 10:20 o'clock from a match tossed into a corner. ### ECZEMA 30 YEARS: SIMPLE OIL CURES.

Wintergreen Compound Stopped Itch
at Once—Disease Soon Disappeared.

After dosing the stomach for years and trying all kinds of alleged cures for eczema, Mr. M. T. Firmin, of Wichita, Kansas, reports a perfect cure. He simply washed the skin with an oil of wintergreen compound, mixed with thynol, glycerine, etc.

My M. T. Firmin, for the last 20 years in the employ of the C. S. Daniels Furniture Co., of Wichita, Kas., in the presence of Mr. Higginson, of the Higginson Drug Co., made the following statement:

"Eczema first appeared on my body when I was a child 8 years of age. For over 30 years I scratched and scratched and doctored. About the only relief I got was from scratching. The itching was so intense it simply drove me wild."

"About one year ago the disease covered my entire body from my scalp to my toes. My doctor and my friends all gave me up as incurable. Then I commenced using the D. D. D. Remedy for eczema. The first application stopped the horrible itching and gave me a night's sleep. It gave me strength and new hope. I continued growing better every day. My whole body being affected, I would sometimes use the contents of one whole bottle in a day."

"I kept up the treatment for months, the eczema gradually leaving my body and am now entirely cured excepting a little roughness of the skin on my left ankle."

The long experience of the best druggists with this tried and proven remedy have given us all great confidence in D. D. D. Prescription.

Last night by extinguishing a fire with eggs. The big chief rushed into the building and grabbed a pan of water off the stove and threw it on the fire. Three eggs were being boiled in the water, but the order was served to the fire and not the customer.

COMPLEXION OF THE NEXT HOUSE

227 R. Republican 164 Democrats Will Compose It.

Says Word From Kentucky and Tennessee Shows Taft Has More Than Fighting Chance.

MR. HITCHCOCK HEARD FROM.

New York, Oct. 30.—Representative Henry C. Loudenslager, of New Jersey, secretary of the national Republican congressional committee, in charge of the New York headquarters of the committee during the campaign, gave out his estimates of the complexion of the house of representatives of the Sixty-first congress.

"From several thousand letters received," said Loudenslager, "and from personal interviews with politicians and other observers from all sections of the country, I am convinced that a conservative estimate of the political complexion of the next house is that it will show 227 Republicans and 164 Democrats.

"I am confident the election results will give an increase in the number of Republicans rather than a decrease."

Chairman Hitchcock, of the Republican national committee, is still of the opinion that Nevada will be very close, but is quite confident of Montana. Information from leaders in Kentucky and Tennessee continue to reach headquarters and is to the effect that the Republican candidate has more than a fighting chance in those two states.

While he feels sure about Maryland he thinks the fight will be close there. Both Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, and Secretary Strauss, of the department of commerce and labor, predict that Taft and Hughes will carry the state of New York by large majorities. Chairman Woodruff estimates Taft's plurality at least 125,000, and Hughes 15,000.

Congressman Haley, of Oregon said:

"Taft will carry every state west of the Mississippi with the possible exception of Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas and Arkansas. Taft and Sherman will carry Nebraska by 6,000 to 10,000."

In a Continental Library.

The typical continental library blinks at the centuries. Time means nothing to him who dispenses and him who awaits books there. Silpa must be handed in the day before volumes are wished, or sometimes early in the morning of the same day. Books are sought on the shelves, not by a staff of scribes, bright boys and girls, but by two or three tottering old porters. Frequently a line of twenty would be readers' stands a full hour waiting for some message from the disarranged stacks. Germany is not the only land where chaos mocks the foolish man who seeks any little used volume.—New York Post.

Marriage by Majority.
A nominee for governor of Delaware, who is a bachelor, agrees that if elected he will on the day of his inauguration marry a girl from the county giving him the largest majority. How spontaneous, how impressive, are these spontaneous manifestations of a deep-rooted and abiding affection!—Utica Observer.

The Remedy That Does.
"Dr. King's New Discovery is the remedy that does the healing others
promise but fail to perform," says
Mrs. E. R. Florin, of Auburn Centre, Pa. "It is curing me of throat and lung trouble of long standing, that other treatments relieved only temporarily. New Discovery is doing me so much good that I feel confident
its continued use for a reasonable length of time will restore me to perfect health." This renowned cough and cold remedy and throat and lung healer is sold at all druggists, 50c
and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

turns it.

A MIDSUMMER KNIGHT'S DREAM

By O. HENRY.

Copyright, 1909, by the S. S. McClure Co.
The knights are dead;
Their swords are rusted;
Except a few who have to business all the time
To raise the dust.

DEAR READER—It was summer
time. The sun glared down upon the city with pitiless ferocity. It is difficult for the sun to be ferocious and exhibit compunction simultaneously. The heat was so intense that the knights who were
for standard measures anywhere? It was no hot that—
The roof gardens put on so many extra waiters that you could hope to get your gin fizz now as soon as all the other people got theirs. The hospitals were putting in extra cots for bystanders, for when little woolly dogs
loll their tongues out and say "Woof, woof!" at the fleas that bite 'em and
nervous old boudoir ladies
screetch "Mad dog!" and policemen begin to shoot somebody is coming to get hurt. The man from Pompton, N. J.,
who always wears an overcoat in July,
had turned up in a Broadway hotel
drinking hot Scotchies and enjoying his annual ray from the calcium. Philanthropists were petitioning the legislature to pass a bill requiring builders to make tenement houses escape more commodious, so that families might die all together of the heat instead of one of two at a time. So many men were telling you about the number of baths
they took each day that you wondered
how they got along after the real heat
of the apartment came back to town
and thanked 'em for taking such good care of it. The young man who called loudly for cold beef and beer in the restaurant, protesting that roast pullet
and burgundy were really too heavy for such weather, hushed when he met your eye, for you had heard him all winter calling in modest tones for the same ascetic viands. Soup, pocketbooks, shirt waists, actors and baseball excuses grew thinner. Yes, it was summer time.

A man stood at Thirty-fourth street
waiting for a downtown car—a man
of forty, gray haired, pink faced, keen,
nervous, plainly dressed, with a hardly look around the eyes. He wiped his forehead and laughed loudly when
a fat man with an onting look stopped
and spoke with him.
"No, street," he shouted, with defiance and scorn. "None of your old mosquito haunted swamps and skyscraper mountains without elevators
for me. When I want to get away from hot weather I know how to do it.
New York, sir, is the finest summer resort in the country. Keep in the shade and watch your diet and don't get too far away from an electric fan.
Talk about your Adirondacks and your Catskills! There's more solid comfort in the borough of Manhattan than in all the rest of the country together.
No, street! No tramping up perpendicular cliffs and being waked up at 4 in the morning by a million flies and eating canned goods straight from the city for me. Little old New York will take a few select summer boarders. Comforts and conveniences of homes—that's the ad. that I answer every time."
"You need a vacation," said the fat
man, looking closely at the other.
"You haven't been away from town
in years. Better come with me for two weeks anyhow. The trout in the Beaverkill are jumping at anything
now that looks like a fly. Harding writes me that he landed a three pound
brown last week."
"Nonsense!" cried the other man.
"Go ahead if you like and boggle around in rubber boots, wearing your outfit trying to catch fish. When I want one I go to a cool restaurant and order it. I laugh at you fellows whenever I think of you basting around in the heat in the country thinking you are having a good time. For me Father Knickerbocker's little improved
farm with the big shady lane running through the middle of it."
The fat man sighed over his friend and went his way. The man who thought New York was the greatest summer resort in the country boarded
a car and went buzzing down his office. On the way he threw away his ad.

The Story of a Medicine.

Its name—"Golden Medical Discovery"—
was suggested by one of its most important and valuable ingredients—Golden Seal root.
Nearly forty years ago, Dr. Pierce discovered that he could, by the use of pure,
tripled-glycerine, aided by a certain degree of constantly maintained
heat and with the aid of apparatus and appliances designed for that purpose, extract from our most valuable native medicinal roots their curative properties
much better than by the use of alcohol,
so generally employed. So the now world-famed "Golden Medical Discovery," for
the cure of weak stomach, indigestion,
dyspepsia, torpid liver, or biliousness
and kindred derangement was first made,
as it ever since has been, without a particle
of alcohol in its make-up.
A glance at the full list of its ingredients, printed on every bottle-wrapper,
will show that it is made from the most valuable medicinal roots found growing in our American forests. All these ingredients have medicinal properties of their own, and when combined in the "Golden Medical Discovery," they have a power which no other medicine has.
A little book of these endorsements has been compiled by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., and will be mailed free to any one asking same by postal card, or letter addressed to the Doctor as above.
From these endorsements, copied from standard medical books of all the different schools of practice, it will be found that the ingredients composing the "Golden Medical Discovery" are advised not only for the cure of the above mentioned
diseases, but also for the cure of all catarrhal, bronchial and throat affections,
accompanied with enterrhal discharges,
hoarseness, sore throat, lingering, or hang-on-coughs, and all those wasting affections which, if not promptly and properly treated, terminate in consumption. Take Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" in time and persevere in its use until you give it a fair trial and it is not likely to disappoint you. So the world-famed "Golden Medical Discovery" is not expected of it. It will not perform miracles. It will not cure consumption in its advanced stages. No medicine will.
It will cure the affection, however, and consumption, if taken in time.

A Constipation Remedy Free

There is no action of your daily life of greater importance than to see that your bowels move. They should move at least once a day naturally,
and by that it is meant without any help.
If they do not move at least once a day you can consider yourself constipated and it is time you did something about it.
You will be glad to know there is a way out of the difficulty. Lemuel Landels, an old soldier at Quincy, Ill., Elmer McMillan, of Speed, Mo., Mr.
Monahan, of Stoneham, Mass., and many others were so cured. But one they swore to the fact that Dr.
Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin was curing their constipation. They thought it too good to be true. Today they are loud in praise of it.
What Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin did
for them it should do for you. Surely your constipation is no worse than theirs, and if you can't get it out, it only remains for you to realize that you are not a temporary case, and what you want is a permanent cure; that purgative tablets,
cathartic pills and such violent things
make a great show of doing something,
but they do nothing. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a scientific preparation, a laxative-tonic, a mild syrupy
cure for constipation, but it does not only cure the constipation, but it tones
the intestinal muscles so that they learn to move on their own. A bottle can be bought of any druggist, but to be
price of 50 cents, and there is a dollar
worth of goods who have already found out its wonderful value in stomach, liver
and bowel troubles, in old or young,
men and women, and address to the doctor and a free trial bottle will be sent you
so that you can test it before buying.
If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want
any medical advice, write
to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service.
The address is Dr. W. D.
Caldwell, 37 Caldwell bldg.,
Monticello, Ill.

newspaper and looked up at a ragged
patch of sky above the housetops.
"Three pounds!" he muttered absent-
ly. "And Harding isn't a liar. I believe, if I could—but it's impossible—
they've got to have another month—
another month at least."
In his office the upholder of urban midsommer joys dived headforemost
into the swimming pool of business.
Adkins, his clerk, came and added a spray of letters, memoranda and telegrams.
At 5 o'clock in the afternoon the busy man leaned back in his office
chair, put his feet on the desk and
mused aloud:
"I wonder what kind of bait Harding used?"

She was all in white that day, and thereby Compton lost a bet to Gaines.
Compton had wagered she would wear light blue, for she knew that was his favorite color, and Compton was a mil-lionaire's son, and that almost laid him open to the charge of betting on a sure thing. But while was her choice,
and Gaines held up his head with twenty-five's lordly air.
The little summer hotel in the mountains had a lively crowd that year.
There were two or three young college men and a couple of artists and a young naval officer on one side. On the other there were enough beauties
among the young ladies for the correspondent of a society paper to refer to them as a "levy." But the moon
among the stars was Mary Sewell.
Each one of the young men greatly desired to arrange matters so that he could pay her millinery bills and fix
the furnace and have her do away with the Sewell part of her name forever.
Those who could stay only a week or two went away hinting at pistols and blighted hearts. But Compton stayed like the mountains themselves, for he could afford it. And Gaines stayed because he was a fighter and wasn't
afraid of millionaire's sons, and—well,
he adored the country.
"What do you think, Miss Mary?"
he said once. "I know a duffer in New York who claimed to like it in the summer time; said you could keep cooler
there than you could in the woods.
Wasn't he an awfully silly? I don't think I could breathe on Broadway
after the last of June."
"Mamma was thinking of going back
week after next," said Miss Mary,
with a lovely frown.
"But when you think of it," said
Gaines, "there are lots of jolly places
in town in the summer. The roof gardens, you know, and the—er—the roof gardens."
Deepest blue was the lake that day,
the day when they had the nock tournament, and the men rode clumsy farm
horses around in a glade in the woods
and caught certain rings on the end of a lance. Such fun!
Cool and dry as the finest wine came the breath of the shadowed forest. The valley below was a vision seen through an opal haze. A white mist from hidden falls, a hazy glow of a hot sun brought of treetops halfway down the gorge. Youth made merry hand in hand with young summer. Nothing on Broadway like that.
The villagers gathered to see the city folks pursue their mad drollery. The woods rang with the laughter of pixies
and naiads and sprites. Gaines caught
most of the rings. He was the privilege to crown the queen of the tournament. He was the conquering knight
—as far as the rings went. On his arm
he wore a white scarf. Compton wore light blue. She had declared her preference for hinc, but she wore white
that day.
Gaines looked about for the queen to crown her. He heard her merry laugh, as if from the clouds. She had slipped away and climbed Chimney rock, a little granite bluff, and stood there a white fairy among the laurels, fifty feet above their heads.
Instantly he and Compton accepted
the implied challenge. The bluff was easily mounted at the rear, but the front offered small hold to hand or foot. Each man quickly selected his route and began to climb. A crevice,
a bush, a slight projection, a vine,
tree branch—all of these were aids
that counted in the race. It was all foolery—there was no stake—but there was youth in it, and vigor, and light

hearts and something else that Miss Clay writes so charmingly about.
Gaines gave a great tug at the root
of a laurel and pulled himself to Miss Mary's feet. On his arm he carried the wreath of roses, and while the villagers
and summer boarders screamed and applauded below he placed it on the queen's brow.
"You are a gallant knight," said Miss Mary.
"If I could be your true knight always," began Gaines, but Miss Mary laughed him dumb, for Compton scrambled over the edge of the rock one minute behind time.
What a twilight that was when they drove back to the hotel! The opal of the valley turned slowly to purple; the dark woods framed the lake as a mirror; the tonic air stirred the very con-
in one; the first pale stars came out over the mountain tops, where yet a faint glow of—
"I beg your pardon, Mr. Gaines," said Adkins.
The man who believed New York to be the finest summer resort in the world opened his eyes and kicked over the muglike bottle on his desk.
"—I believe I was asleep," he said.
"It's the heat," said Adkins. "It's something awful in the city these—"
"Nonsense!" said the other. "The city
beats the country ten to one in summer."

"Some letters just came," said Adkins.
mer. Fools go out tramping in muddy brooks and wear themselves out trying to catch little fish as long as your finger. Stay in town and keep comfortable—that's my idea."
"Some letters just came," said Adkins. "I thought you might like to glance at them before you go."
Let us look over his shoulder and
read just a few lines of one of them:
My Dear Husband—Just received your letter ordering us to stay another month. Rita's cough is almost gone.
Johnny has simply gone wild like a little Indian. Will be the making of both children. Work so hard, and I know that your business can hardly afford to keep us here so long. — best man that ever
— you always pretend that you like the city in summer. — trout fishing; that you used to be so fond of — and all to keep us well and happy — come to you
if it were not doing the babies so much good. I stood last evening on Chimney rock in exactly the same spot where I was when you put the wreath of roses on my head. — through all the world —
when you said you would be my true
knight — fifteen years ago, dear, just think! — have always been that to me
— over and over,
The man who said he thought New York the finest summer resort in the country dropped into a cafe on his way home and had a glass of beer under an electric fan.
"Wonder what kind of a fly old Harding used," he said to himself.
Best the World Affords.
"It gives me unbounded pleasure
to recommend Huckle's Arnica Salve," says J. W. Jenkins, of Chapel Hill, N. C. "I am convinced it's the best salve the world affords. It cured
a felon on my thumb, and it never fails to heal every sore, burn or wound to which it is applied. 25c at

MOTHER'S FRIEND

Where Greek Met Greek.
The marble clock in the dining room had just announced in mellow tones the hour of 3 a. m., when the wife of the plumber nudged him and whispered nervously:
"Horace! there's a burglar in the house!"
"There is, hey?" answered the husband, now thoroughly awake. "I see about him."
With cunning stealth he got out of bed and tip-toed out of the room. For ten minutes no sound broke the awful stillness; then the house shook with a crash. There was a century of silence. Then a chair fell, the front door slammed and a heavy bundle thumped down the front stairs and into the street.
The terrified wife faintly, to be brought back to consciousness by the voice of her husband.
"It's all right, dear; I threw him out," he chuckled, as he turned on the light. "But the scoundrel had only four dollars and thirty cents on his clothes."—Judge.
